CONFERENCE INFORMATION

Among the scourges faced by mankind today, climate change caused by environmental pollution is in the forefront. In the greater part of the last century, it was the fast pace of industrialization, galloping demand for food, shelter and energy and reckless exploitation of natural resources, that were mainly responsible for creating the problem of environmental pollution in developed countries. Most of the environmental concerns faced by the developed countries following industrial revolution and resultant economic boom and consumerism in the past are now spreading to the developing countries as well.

Current scenario is, however, vastly different, as widespread poverty, illiteracy and burgeoning population in the Third World countries are leading to increasing environmental pollution at a pace which was unimaginable only a few decades earlier. Climate change is the biggest threat faced by this planet since the 'Ice Age'. When it comes to the hazards of environmental pollution, there is only a very thin dividing line between developed and developing countries now. One pollutes and the other suffers from its consequences equally, if not more.

India, with a population of ca 1.25 billion people, is home to one-sixth of the human beings on this planet. It is a developing country, where its teeming millions suffer from poverty, illiteracy, malnutrition resulting in severe degradation in environmental quality and ill health. However, with its strong industrial base, sound infra-structure and phenomenal progress in science and technology, it is poised to become a developed country in not too distant future. Being an amalgam of developed and developing nations, it is ideally suited to host this international Conference. Because of its sheer size and population, what India does today, will have its impact on the entire planet tomorrow.

International Society of Environmental Botanists and CSIR-National Botanical Research Institute, Lucknow (CSIR-NBRI) had jointly organized five highly successful International Conferences on Plants and Environmental Pollution in Lucknow in 1996, 2002, 2005 2010 and 2015. Some of these conferences were co-sponsored by international organizations like UNESCO, UNEP, TWAS, IUBS, Indo-US Science & Technology Forum, AusAID, Murdoch University, Australia and several ministries/departments of Government of India. At the last Conference, it was recommended that the sixth quadrennial ICPEP (ICPEP-6) needed to be organized to provide an active forum for discussing scientific researches and for exchanging knowledge concerning environmental issues among researchers from different parts of the globe. As a follow-up of the above recommendations, ISEB and CSIR-NBRI are jointly organizing the sixth International Conference on Plants and Environmental Pollution (ICPEP-6), during 27-30 November 2018, at CSIR-NBRI Campus, Lucknow India. Prestigious international scientific organizations, funding agencies like banks, foundations and corporate sector promoting environmental protection activities under their corporate social responsibility programmes are being invited to co-sponsor this conference which will deliberate on crucial issues like environmental protection, climate change impact, on biodiversity migration of species, forestry, food security and human health.

International Union of Forest Research Organizations (IUFRO), Vienna, Austria is cosponsoring a satellite session on Ecology and Silviculture of Sub-tropical and Tropical Oaks under Global Change” during the Conference under the aegis of ICPEP -6. This session will be attended by some leading forestry researchers from India and abroad.

This Conference is aimed at providing a vibrant interactive forum for serious deliberations on the pressing problems of pollution and the role of plants in its amelioration. The deliberations during the Conference will focus on a wide range of issues such as climate change, environment and biodiversity, environmental biotechnology, plant response to environmental pollution, environmental impact assessment, bio-indication and bioremediation, plant-microbe interaction and waste management. Promoting environment education and outreach programmes also need to be emphasized besides other emerging environmental issues.

Detailed technical reports and recommendations of the previous Conferences (ICPEP-1 to ICPEP-5) were forwarded to relevant International agencies, academic institutions and organizations (both government and non-government) for their perusal and implementation. These can also be accessed from ISEB website: <http://isebindia.com>.

An International Advisory Committee with some of the most reputed and highly distinguished environmental and plant scientists has been constituted under the chairmanship of Prof. S.K. Barik, President ISEB & Director CSIR-NBRI to guide and advise in planning and organizing this Conference.

While leading scientific institutes and funding organizations from across the globe and Government of India departments are being approached for co-sponsoring this Conference, International Union of Biological Sciences (IUBS), Paris and IUFRO, Vienna have already agreed to do so.

Dr. Nathalie Fomproix, Executive Director, International Union of Biological Sciences (IUBS), Paris will be the Chief Guest and formally inaugurate this Conference on the forenoon of 27th November 2018.

ISEB & CSIR-NBRI

Of the two organizers of ICPEP-6, International Society of Environmental Botanists (ISEB), is a non-governmental not-for-profit Scientific Society based on the campus of CSIR-National Botanical Research Institute, Lucknow, India. ISEB aims to promote the cause of environmental protection, biodiversity conservation, pollution abatement and sustainable development by focusing on, and highlighting the role of plants in attaining the aforementioned objectives. The other organizer, CSIR-National Botanical Research Institute (CSIR-NBRI), is one of the most prestigious, and internationally reputed, inter-disciplinary plant science Institute of South-east Asia. It is a constituent of the Council of Scientific & Industrial Research, Government of India, New Delhi and the Director of CSIR-NBRI, Prof. SK Barik is also the President of ISEB.

THE CITY OF LUCKNOW

The city of Lucknow with a population of over 3.5 million, is the capital of Uttar Pradesh, which is India's most populous state (population 220 million). The State is home to one-thirtieth of the global population. Lucknow is known all over the world for its beautiful historical monuments, heritage sites, sprawling gardens, palaces, art, culture, music, textile embroidery and culinary art. It occupies a very important place on the political map of India.

During the past few decades, it has made tremendous strides in the field of education and science and technology. With over a dozen universities and an equal number of R&D institutes of international repute, it has become a hub of scientific researches, especially in the fields of biotechnology, bio-medical research, plant sciences, agriculture and management studies.

Lucknow is well connected by rail and road with all major Indian cities and directly by air with cities like New Delhi, Mumbai, Kolkata, Bangalore, Hyderabad, Chennai, Pune, Ahmedabad, Patna etc. Lucknow's airport is an international airport with direct regular flights to several Gulf and Arab countries, Singapore and Bangkok. It has more than a dozen 3-4 star hotels and 3-4, 5-star luxury hotels.

A glimpse of Lucknow city with its beautiful skyline dotted with historical monuments, sprawling gardens, royal palaces glittering shopping centres, malls and research, educational and cultural centres can be had from internet.

PROCEDURE FOR SUBMISSION OF ABSTRACT AND REGISTRATION

1. Abstract of Paper on the given template

The Abstract not exceeding 300 words typed in "Times New Roman" 11 pt normal font, single line spacing and should include:

- i. Title of Paper in BLOCK letters
- ii. Name of all author(s) in italics with an asterisk (*) marked against the name of the presenting author
- iii. Author(s)' primary institutional affiliations using superscript numerals including full address of all the authors up to town and country and their E-mail IDs.
- iv. Main body of the Abstract
- v. 5 to 6 key words
- vi. Area/discipline which best represents your work w.r.t. ICPEP-6

Duly-filled-in Templates of your abstract should be e-mailed to Dr. P.A. Shirke, Senior Principal Scientist, Plant Ecology and Environmental Science Division, CSIR-National Botanical Research Institute, Lucknow-226001, India (E-mail: publicationsicpep6@gmail.com). All queries regarding abstracts and publication related matters should be addressed to him.

2. Last date for submission of abstract

Last date for submission of abstract is 31st August 2018.

Note: No abstract will be entertained after 31st August 2018.

3. Oral presentation

Oral presentations will be of 15 minutes duration, including discussions. Overhead, 35 mm projection, LCD/CD and other electronic multimedia facilities will be available for presentation.

IUBS GRANT FOR YOUNG SCIENTISTS

IUBS, Paris, which is co-sponsoring ICPEP-6 Conference has released some financial assistance for disbursement among young scientists, who are participating in ICPEP-6 conference and presenting a research paper (oral/poster) at the conference.

Normally, delegates who hold Ph.D degree and are below 35 years of age are eligible to avail the grant which can be used for travel purpose, while those who do not hold Ph.D degrees yet, but are doing research work for the Ph.D degree and have published some papers are also eligible to avail this grant.

The grant is basically meant for travel purpose but can be used for other purposes also. Which delegates from SAARC Countries (India, Afghanistan, Bangladesh, Bhutan, Maldives, Nepal, Pakistan, Sri Lanka) can be considered for a maximum financial assistance of Indian Rs. 20,000.00. Those from other countries can be given a maximum of INR 50,000.00.

Those delegates who are interested in availing this grant should urgently apply on plain paper (preferably/ by email: icpep6@gmail.com) to organizing Secretaries ICPEP-6, CSIR- National Botanical Research Institute, Lucknow-226001, India, giving their CV and other particulars. The application should accompany, duly filled in registration form of ICPEP-6 (provided in enclosed circular) and abstract of the paper, to be presented at the conference (poster/oral). Foreign delegates must provide their passport details in the registration form. The application should be submitted urgently, preferable before, 31st August 2018. Delegates may access our website isebindia.com or contact us on telephone +91-522-2297821 or email icpep6@gmail.com for any other information.

Those young scientists who are eligible to apply for this grant should have an active participation (poster or oral presentation) in this conference. The grant can sponsor their registration/travel/accommodation. They will have to send a summary of their presentation and acknowledge IUBS. The young scientists sponsored by IUBS will be required to use IUBSs logo in their presentations during the Conference. They will also have to write a short paragraph about their presentation that will be posted on IUBS Website.
